

Wanda Sykes

Contributed by Ken Reid
Sunday, 10 May 2009
Last Updated Saturday, 05 September 2009

Wanda Sykes was hilarious last night at the White House Correspondents dinner. It was obvious that she enjoys a good joke, so I hope she appreciates this one.

Among other things, she wished for Rush Limbaugh's death, accused him of being the 20th hijacker and told outright lies regarding his position on the Obama administration. All while Obama sat smiling and chuckling.

This administration has turned what has traditionally been a forum for good natured ribbing into a low class affair. This from the man who promised a new era of civility and elevated debate in Washington.